FATAL SHOOTING FRAY

TOM MIZNER OF TROPICO KILLS B. W. RICHARDSON, BANKER, OF SAME PLACE

Tom Mizner, a real estate man of Tropic, shot and killed B. W. Richardson, vice president of the First National Bank of Tropic, this morning at 10:15, at the entrance to Forest Lawn cemetery. Richardson was shot twice through the lungs and died within a few minutes. Dr. Duncan arrived on the scene of the shooting to find that the wounded man was in the act of expiring.

Immediately after the shooting Mizner ran to his own house at the corner of Palmer and Brand and barricaded himself there. "An excited crowd gathered in the neighborhood of the house and a number of men with guns and revolvers surrounded the residence. Quite an exciting scene was then enacted. The besiegers took shelter behind telephone poles and trees and lay on the streets, sheltering themselves under the curb, with rifles, guns and revolvers pointed at the Mizner home. Several shots were exchanged by besiegers and besieged.

Mizner fired three shots at his besiegers; but the arrival of Sheriff Cline and his deputies, from Los Angeles, put an end to the conflict and Mizner surrendered to the sheriff. He was taken to the Scovern, Letton & Frye undertaking establishment where Richardson's body had been conveyed and there he confessed that he shot Richardson. No reason for the shooting was given. It is stated, however, that there had been a dispute between the two men over some real estate deal.

Richardson was the founder and owner of the "Richardson tract" and had other real estate holdings.

It is reported that a lady who had been visiting the cemetery in the morning shortly before the shooting, saw Mizner lurking about the entrance as though watching for someone. Richardson died about 10:25 a. m. and up to noon it had not been possible to locate Mrs. Richardson, who had gone into Los Angeles to do some Christmas shopping.

Frank Richardson, Bert Richardson's nephew, was with his uncle at the time of the shooting. He states that Mizner came up to them and asked Richardson about renting a lot owned by Richardson, for an auto supply station. Mizner had made application to Richardson some months ago for a lease for this purpose on the property in question, but Richardson, after some negotiations, had rented the lot to another party for the same purpose. "What about that gasoline station?" asked Mizner. "I have rented it," answered Richardson. "What are you going to do about it?" queried Mizner. "I don't know," replied the banker. "Then I know," retorted Mizner, and, drawing his revolver, shot Richardson twice.

PUBLICITY FUNDS

It is with pleasure the management of the Evening News notes the fact that clubs, churches and various organizations are adopting the modern method of having a publicity fund in the hands of their treasurer from which money is drawn to pay for judicious but necessary advertising. The old way of well-to-do members of clubs and societies begging free space in a newspaper because a few of their members are subscribers for the paper has become obsolete and is practiced only by persons who have not gotten their eyes open to the true worth of publicity and the justness of paying for the same.

GREECE TO HAVE NEUTRALITY PRESIDENT

M. GOUNARIS IS SLATED FOR ELECTION TO THE POSITION OF PREMIER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
ATHENS, Dec. 23.—M. Gounaris, who has all along been an advocate of neutrality for Greece, is slated for the position of premier. The parliament now in power, elected by a very small minority of the people, has but little choice of suitable men for premier. The abstention from the polls of the majority of the nation renders the task of any premier doubly difficult. Premier Skouloudis is reported to have handed in his resignation.

The German statement that their assaults had been successful and that they had captured 1500 French prisoners was denied. It is thought that the German announcement took for granted that the assaults in force could not fail.

MOTOR CAR SMASH

H. B. FLETCHER AND D. W. WRIGHT COLLIDE ON CENTRAL AVE.

What might have been an accident in which serious injuries, if not death, might have been incurred, took place Monday evening on Central avenue, between Chestnut street and Riverdale drive. At that time H. B. Fletcher, of 1476 Milford street, was proceeding north in his auto and D. W. Wright, 2216 Baxter street, Los Angeles, was going south. Under ordinary circumstances there should have been no encounter between the two machines. Fletcher, however, as the evidence adduced when the case came up before Judge Whomes, was driving on the wrong side of the street and in a condition evidently induced by too free indulgence in Christmas good cheer which, in his case, was very bad cheer indeed.

In consequence of this violation of the traffic laws and of the bemuddled condition of Fletcher, his machine collided with that of D. W. Wright with disastrous effects. The left hand fender and tool box were torn off Wright's machine and other damage. In the case of Fletcher's own machine the damage was greater. The car had the left front fender smashed and the left front wheel broken off. Parts of the broken autos were strewn over the road.

Chief Herald and Patrolman Holtenbeck proceeded to the scene, placed Fletcher under arrest and took him to the lockup. His auto was towed to the Ford garage, while Mr. Wright was able to limp slowly to Los Angeles in his damaged machine. Before Judge Whomes, Tuesday, Fletcher plead guilty and was fined $50.

PROGRESS ON JOHN MUIR TRAIL

Work on the John Muir trail, in the High Sierras, which is being built by cooperation between the state and the forest service, has suspended for the season and reports as to the results accomplished have been received from the forest supervisors who had charge of the work on the Sierra and the Sequoia National forests.

Twenty-one miles of new trail were constructed, two and one-half miles of old trail were repaired, and one bridge built.

The trail has a minimum tread of thirty inches, with plenty of turnouts in dangerous places, and the grade, except in a few stretches, was kept below fifteen per cent. Where grading work was done, ample clearance was made for packs, and in timber country six feet clearance between trees was obtained. All prominent trees along the trail were blazed with the forest service blaze, and above timber-line monuments of large size were placed at frequent intervals.

The total cost of the work done last summer was $4733.49—or about $200 per mile. Portions of the trail were hewn through solid granite, and fust at the rate of $2300 per mile. The work was done by the forest service under the direction of the state engineer.

HOUSEBREAKER GETS JEWELS

How closely criminals watch the movements of their intended victims and careful householders should be to lock up their homes before leaving them was exemplified in a robbery that took place Monday evening at about 5 o'clock. About that hour Mrs. P. V. Potter, 1541 Riverdale Drive, left her house to meet her husband returning home from the city. As she only intended to be absent a few moments and as the night had not yet fallen, Mrs. Potter, in all confidence, left her front door unlocked.

When she and her husband arrived home about fifteen minutes later they heard noises in the house that indicated that some thief had entered during their absence. Before they could take any steps to find out who was in the house, the thief threw up a window in a bedroom at the rear of the house, jumped out, and hurried across the fields. Neighbors who were moving about at the time said that they had noticed a short, heavy-set man, with a slouch hat pulled down so as to hide his face, come out of the Potter's yard and make his way across the vacant lots.

Examination of the premises showed that two valuable rings had been stolen along with a gold watch and $19 in cash. The total value of the articles stolen amounts to about $200. No trace of the robber has been found.

VIOLINIST OF NOTE

HERR CHRISTIAAN TIMMNER, EMINENT MUSICIAN, MAKES GLENDALE HIS RESIDENCE

Christiaan Timmner, former concert master of Philharmonic orchestra, Berlin, Germany, and also of the Philharmonic orchestra, Amsterdam, Holland, recently arrived in Glendale with his family and has taken up his residence in this city at 1437 Riverdale Drive. Mrs. Timmner is also a musician of note and was at one time violoncello soloist with the Amsterdam, Holland, Symphony orchestra. Both of these excellent musicians intend to take pupils.

Herr Timmner, just before coming to Glendale, was a resident of Cleveland, Ohio, where he had for three years trained the Cleveland Municipal Symphony orchestra. The work done by Herr Timmner was wonderful. He took what was very crude material, with just enough technique to comprehend the teachings of a virtuoso like Herr Timmner and made out of them an orchestra that was reckoned by many to stand on an equal platform with the famous Boston Symphony orchestra.

On Sunday afternoons when the Cleveland Municipal orchestra gave its concert, the Hippodrome would be filled with a large and enthusiastic audience. The attendance at those concerts gradually crept up and up until we read that 3500 people attended the concert as a matter of weekly habit.

That of itself might be considered a vast tribute to the capacity and ability of Herr Timmner. This distinguished artist, who is as modest as he is accomplished, is himself a violinist of profound capacity, standing in the very first rank of world-known violinists. At the Cleveland Symphony concerts, the violin solos of Herr Timmner were eagerly awaited and rapturously applauded. In fact, if the artist would have permitted it, the enthusiastic audiences would have made him the whole entertainment.

Mayor Newton D. Baker, who was mayor of Cleveland during the time Herr Timmner was building up his wonderful orchestra in that city, writes to him of the regret experienced by all in Cleveland that the recent change in the mayoralty and council, joined to the heavy debt run up by the city, had induced the new council to disband the organization so carefully built up by Herr Timmner. The Young Men's Business club of Cleveland, an organization of more than 2000 members, writes him in high appreciation of his work. His fellow musicians in the city are a unit in their praise of his many wonderful musical qualities and also which is just as high a tribute to his geniality and kindness.

Herr Timmner is a friend of Fritz Kreisler, the Austrian violinist, and of Paderewski, the Hungarian pianist. He has a characteristic letter from Richard Strauss, the leading European composer of the age, who calls him "eminenten Konzertmeister" and says "he has played under my direction in Amsterdam," and says "I recommend him highly."

Herr Timmner, as a violinist of eminence, has instruments worthy of his skill. He has a Guarnerius violin, for which he has been offered, several times, $8000; but which he would not sell at any price. He has also another violin of almost equal value. He has two violas which for beauty of tone are not surpassed, and possibly not equaled, in the United States. The tone of one of these is as full as that of a violoncello. He is as full as that of a violoncello. He is as full as that of a violoncello. He is as full as that of a violoncello. He is as full as that of a violoncello.

White packages arranged beneath the green branches, attached to scarlet ribbon runners, crossing the cloth, are to mark covers for the hostess and her father, Mr. George Duffet, Mrs. N. F. Gibbs, grandmother of Miss Duffet; Mrs. H. N. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McIntosh and children, June, Billy and Bobby; Miss Josephine Keller, and Miss Blanche Davenport.

CHRISTMAS IN THE UNITED STATES

Nothing can be said too strong to emphasize the contrast between this Christmas season in the United States and the same season in Europe.

What a contrast is all this to the civic prosperity of this favored land; the plenty of the farms; the houses owned by the people; the little patches of ground that are in cultivation; the smiling gardens; the happy children, the wholesome faces of the boys and girls as they go to their schools.

Tissot, the famous French painter, who became a Christian through painting pictures of Christ, shortly after the Franco-Prussian war painted a masterpiece. It represented a city in ruins after one of the "famous victories" of that sad time.

Behind the aged couple, with a look of infinite pity in his eye, was Christ, a shadow amid the ruins, with eyes downcast in mercy and comprehension and with hands extended to bless.

In fact, however, the great human heart of the United States is all right. It goes out to suffering humanity everywhere and the poor of Europe have experienced in many ways the kindness that dwells in the hearts of this American race.

In this Christmas season the message of peace and goodwill goes forth from America to Europe, bidding the children of all the races look upward and trust in that power which alone can put an end to the internecine strife of the countries.

To this land is given the opportunity to be the peacemaker of the world, and in tenderness and kindness so to speak to the nations that they may cease their unnatural strife and learn the wisdom of peace and the lesson of the Christmas season.

LUNCHEON SETS

One of the large linen shops is showing some very pretty luncheon sets which include cloth, napkins, plate and glass doilies. The sets are made of plain fine white linen with narrow blue buttonholed borders, done in rather unusual stitches.

VELVET BANDBOXES

Velvet bandboxes are among the newest fancies. The boxes come in the larger sizes and are covered with velvet to match the room in which they are to be kept.

vet bandboxes are those covered with satin brocade or silk tapestry, and finished with gold galloon and lace, or little chiffon and silk roses.

QUICK PUDDING SAUCE

Blanc mange and other puddings often need a sauce to complete them, and, whereas custard is always excellent, it takes quite a good deal of time to make.

VEGETABLE SOUP

Two onions, small piece turnip, small piece celery, 1 carrot, 2 tomatoes, 2 potatoes, 1 ounce butter, 3 pints cold water, 1/2 teaspoonful sugar, 1 1/2 tablespoonfuls crushed sage, 1 tablespoonful chopped parsley, pepper and salt, little cream, 1 gill milk.

Some counties are planning to eradicate the coyote, and if they succeed they will have to fight jackrabbits without the most effective assistants.

If the steamer Minnesota merely set off on a voyage without being seaworthy, there does not seem much excuse for having made a mystery of the matter.

These papers are live local publications and the citizens of Glendale who have read them know this to be the case, and hence either one or the other is being included in the 1916 periodical list.

Glendalian Growing Grapes

Mr. Adam Smith, a former resident of Glendale, who gave up his home at Dryden and Louise street there, two years ago, to become a resident of the valley, has been successfully growing grapes on his eleven-acre ranch. He reports that the last year's crop paid better than that of any former year. This notwithstanding the lower price for the grapes. Hero of Titanic

Nearly two years have elapsed since the ill-fated Titanic went to its watery grave. Yet still, the echo of its terrible toll is heard throughout the land. Tuesday of this week, C. D. Miller of Michigan avenue, La Crescenta, received a copy of the Erie (Pennsylvania) Times announcing the identification of Capt. James Blaine Miller, of the United States Geodetic Survey, who was a passenger aboard the Titanic on its maiden cruise.

J. B. Miller, who was a cousin of the La Crescenta man, was identified from notes and a key ring with a whistle attached. His identity was made by a companion aboard the vessel who remembered certain notes made by Mr. Miller a short time before death. These notes were found in Ireland, where one of the unknown perished had been buried.

Relatives had the body exhumed and it was then a more positive identification was made through the ring and whistle. In all news accounts, Mr. Miller receives special mention for heroic work done during the sinking of the ship. His body is being brought to Erie for interment.
